

NLSC 2021 Update 5/21/21
Darrin Gibson
National Competition Coordinator

Welding Sculpture has been added to the list of competitions where students can compete from their home or other locations located off their school campus, with permission from their school administration.

Special note: It is strongly encouraged to have every student compete at their school under the direct "safety supervision" of their instructor and where the instructor can assist if/when there are technical difficulties during the virtual competitions. It is recommended that each school have a technical support person available to assist if needed.

Listed below is the complete list of competitions where contestants can compete from home:

Leadership Competitions

- American Spirit
- Chapter Business Procedure
- Chapter Display
- Community Service
- Extemporaneous Speaking
- Job Interview
- Occupational Health and Safety: Single and Multiple
- Outstanding Chapter
- Pin Design
- Prepared Speech
- Promotional Bulletin Board
- T-Shirt Design

Occupationally Related Competitions

- Health Occupations Professional Portfolio
- Medical Math
- Medical Terminology
- Related Technical Math

Technical Skills Competitions

- Welding Sculpture

SkillsUSA requires all other competitions to be on-site and to be supervised by school personnel so that technical support can ensure contest integrity. Every effort should be made to provide opportunities for contestants to compete at their school so they can be appropriately supervised and supported. If a student is competing from home, they cannot receive the technical support they would receive at school.
